Subject: Campaign Cybersecurity

Cybersecurity is an important part of voters' confidence in our democracy.

In response to the growing emphasis on secure elections, researchers at Harvard University, in collaboration with bi-partisan campaign professionals, national security experts, and leaders in cybersecurity from the public and private sector, created the Campaign Cybersecurity Playbook as a practical, baseline guide to cybersecurity that campaigns can use to help safeguard their systems.

The Campaign Cybersecurity Playbook can be found online at:

<http://www.belfercenter.org/CyberPlaybook>

The guide is free of charge and the Office of Secretary of State encourages candidates and their campaigns to consider its recommendations.
